NEW BRUNSWICK
Directory of Services for Victims of Abuse
This directory has been created by the Public Legal Education and Information Service of New Brunswick (PLEIS-NB) in collaboration with Crime Prevention and Policing Standards, Justice and Public Safety, and the Women’s Equality Branch, Executive Council Office. The purpose of this directory is to help victims of intimate partner violence find helpful services and programs in a crisis, and over the longer term.

The directory is available as an online resource only. We intend to update it regularly. This directory does not represent a full and complete list of services and programs. As well, programs and services may be added or eliminated over time. You should check with the services providers in your region to ask about other kinds of assistance that might be available for victims living in, or leaving, abusive relationships.

Introduction

Purpose of This Publication
This directory for victims of crime and intimate partner violence is to provide an overview and quick access to programs and services available in New Brunswick, such as counselling, housing and court preparation and support.

Surviving a crime is often a difficult and traumatic experience. This directory is intended to provide a helpful starting point for victims to access services they, and their children, need within their own communities. It is not intended to be an exhaustive list of all programs and services available for victims.

Who Should Use the Directory of Services for Victims
If you have been a victim of intimate partner violence and require help, or if you have been a victim of crime, there may be a number of services and resources that can help to get you through this stressful time. These resources are available to victims and survivors, regardless of the timeline in their experience.

If you are looking for services to help your intimate partner end the abusive behaviour, check out the Directory of Services For Abusive Partners.

How to Use the Directory of Services for Victims
This directory categorizes programs and services by several broad subjects. Beneath each subject, contact information for services or programs is listed by specific location in New Brunswick. It is not necessary, however, to use the service nearest you if you prefer not to for any reason.

Please Contact PLEIS-NB with Additions and Suggestions
The Internet version of this directory will be updated on a regular basis. If you know of a service that would be useful to include in this directory, please contact us at PLEIS-NB:

Email: pleisnb@web.ca
Telephone: 506-453-5369
The police are trained to treat family violence seriously and in a non-judgmental way. They will also make sure victims or survivors of crime and their children are safe. Even if charges are not laid, police officers can refer you to services in the community that can help. If you require police assistance, and if it is not an emergency, find the contact information for the RCMP or a police force nearest you.

If you or anyone you know is in immediate danger, CALL 9-1-1

b) Second-Stage Housing

These facilities provide safe housing for women who are ready to make plans for the future. As victims of intimate partner violence transition from temporary shelters and a phase of initial crisis, these facilities provide individual and group support, along with a stable environment, which allows victims to take actions toward a stable life without violence.

iv) Volunteer Centres

These centres function by encouraging volunteerism, partnering with community organizations to create connections between volunteers and volunteer opportunities, as well as foster leadership in ways that increase community engagement. Several centres are non-profit organizations, while others are part of another community body, such as a United Way or Social Planning Council.
